WHEELING, W. VA., FEBRUARY 6, 1883.

The Civil Service Commission. other Senators including David Davis, as we understand, and many Represen have signed the application of Judge Hoge for the minority place on the civil service commission. Upon the announcement of Judge Hoge's candidacy the Intelligences advanced some reasons why the appoint ment should not be made. We propose to show why it would be inconsistent, impolitic and improper, because: First the application disqualified by the spirit if not the letter of the Constitution which provides (Article I, Section 6) tha "No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the au thority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time." It may be said that the ap pointment would come after the expiration of the term for which he was elected, but that would be a nice technicality not in harmony with the spirit of the Constitu-

Secondly, it is provided in the tenth section of the Civil Service Act that "no re commendation of any person who shall apply for office or place under the provi-sions of this Act, which may be given by any Senator or member of the House of esentatives, except as to characte shall be received or considered by an ocerned in making any exam for appointment under th this general idea is to guide the commission in its work, how necessary that it shall be followed in the appointment of the Commissioners who are to execute the law. If the Connsissionerships are to be secured by the old methods of political managevering, what is to be expected from the Commission? A who seeks a Commissionership through Congressional influence make himself as conspicuously unfit for appoint-

Thirdly, Judge Hoge has recorded him self an enemy to civil service reform. He voted against the bill to create the comon which he now seeks to serve If the whole commission were compose of men who oppose the effort to reform the civil service the act would be a failure be fore it could get into operation. This mere outline of argument ought to be sufficient to convince the fair-minded men of both parties that Judge Hoge's appointment under the circumstances woul be a deplorable precedent and utterly at variance with the reasonable wishes of the friends of civil service reform. It is certainly not too much to expect that the commission shall be composed of mer who are cordially in favor of the object fo which the commission has been created. PERSONAL.
